

► Mukul Goyal, a designer now presents his exclusive and unique Tattva.spa series which has been created to bring in a little flavour of fun and liveliness into bathroom spaces. With clean lined geometric forms filling a bath space traditionally, this collection presently brings in a fresh and new perspective, enabling an elegant transformation of bathrooms in general.

Of late, bath spaces are gaining more and more of an importance in our lives. Technology and superior cosmetics have moved in and the time we spend grooming ourselves in the bath has increased a great deal. It's only natural then, that these spaces now get their fair share of attention where designing them is concerned; at par with the rest of the house.

The Tattva.spa series includes the Acrobat series which is based on performing human forms. The bathroom space is intrinsically dedicated to the human body and this is reason enough, the designer feels, to use the human form itself as a design theme for the fittings in this space. The Tooty series brings in fun by expanding the tap aesthetic and including unconnected tap fixtures. First time users are tricked into turning knobs which are basically non-functional, adding a quotient of amusement.

Apart from these, the Birdie series is nature based with birds perched on the fixtures and the Pod range with its simple yet organic flowing lines tries to reference the flow of water.

Mukul Goyal opines that whatever be the design of the fitting intended for the bathroom, the quality of it should never be compromised. A bathroom has one of the most corrosive atmospheres in the house; humidity coupled with soaps, cleaning agents, cosmetics and perfumery put the fixtures through a severe test. He therefore uses time tried, chrome plated brass as the vital metal in the manufacture of all his fittings. Each series of his range consists of a toilet paper holder, towel ring, hooks, shelf, and a towel rail. He intends to expand each series further, by adding a towel rack, double towel rods, shower shelves, soap dishes, liquid soap dispensers and tooth brush holders; all these articles will give the client an option of co-ordinating all the fittings required for the bathroom.

The tattva.spa series is also complemented with numerous knobs and handles.

Contact

Mukul Goyal

Web: www.tattvaindia.com ■